The Buckeyes offered a scholarship to Frankfort (Ky.) Western Hills running back/athlete Wandale Robinson in mid-May. Since then Robinson has been back to Ohio State to visit the Buckeyes again. And his plan has been and remains to make it back to Columbus for an official visit with the Buckeyes. That plan has not changed with the firing of Zach Smith.

"Not very much," Robinson said when asked if Smith's firing impacts him. "Coach Meyer has always been my favorite (Ohio State coach to talk to). And also I talked on the phone with coach (Brian) Hartline on Tuesday morning. He said he is going to be recruiting me now. He'll be the one now. I had talked to him before when I was up at Ohio State. It wasn't like coach Hartline wasn't involved."

Also involved is Taver Johnson on Tuesday too," Robinson said. "I called him on Tuesday night. They want my Ohio State official visit to be my last official visit. It will be."

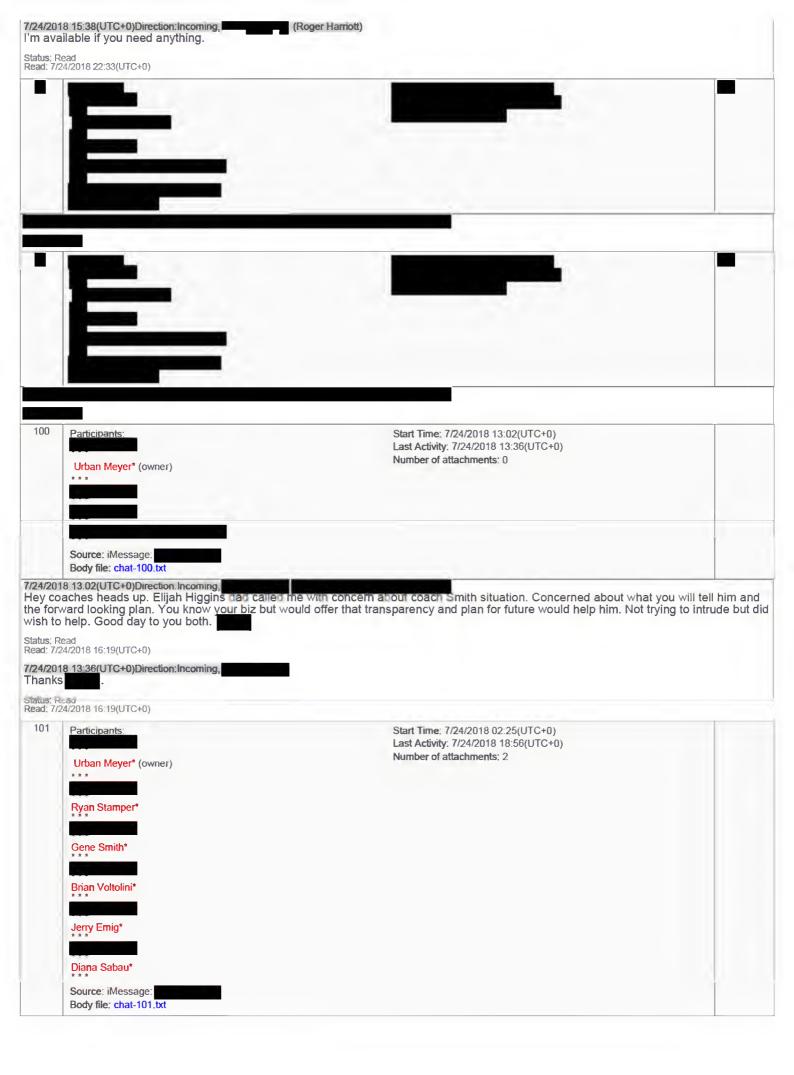

Robinson's next official visit will be to Nebraska Sept. 1. The Nebraska visit will be official visit No. 3 for Robinson. He has previously made official visits to Purdue and Michigan. If he takes all five trips the other two schools in the running for an official visit are Alabama and Kentucky. Robinson plans to make an official visit to Ohio State for one of the Buckeyes games this season. I received text asking about Zach issues in 2009 (I knew about-it was dropped). Also 2015 said felony arrest. I know nothing about this.

Is there a way to find out exactly what his issues were. I know about 2009 and last week. That's it.

Need some guidance here so when I speak to media I'm not wrong.

Thx.

Im looking into 2015. In meantime, think you can say: there were things in Zach's past that I wasn't aware of. I don't want to get into details at this time. ... I was aware of the Florida issue, but they were a young couple and charges weren't levied and I wanted to help them get thru their issues as much as possible. ... Recent incidents, in addition to some things we are learning about now, prompted me to take the action of letting Zach go.

I would be careful. Do not get too detailed. Diana says social media tracking metric shows 80% plus is positive.

What ever you say, say in opening statement and take no more questions on it

As you are aware through our release, we have made a change in our wide receivers coaching position. As Zach dealt with his personal challenge I was aware of two legal instances in 2009 and 2015. This most recent issue is inconsistent with our values. Brian Hartline will serve as lead interim WR coach and Corey Dennis Will receive increased duties with coaching wide receivers. Of course I will increase my involvement and oversight. We have a veteran group of guys......

Needs to be cleaned up in your words..... just a thought

Those are good points. Three thoughts to carry throughout the day because there will invariably be follow up questions:

- I was aware of the Florida issue, but they were a young couple, charges weren't levied and I [and Shelly] wanted to help them get thru their issues as much as possible. ...
- There were no charges in 2015 and I really don't even recall any details.
- Recent news last week of additional issues with Zach prompted me to take the action of letting him go. [The fact you were not told by Zach, you weren't aware of his citation back in May, can be a part of your decision, as well].

CHICAGO — There was no other choice for Urban Meyer.

Ohio State could have let the case play out and see what transpired with the criminal trespass charge against now former wide receivers coach Zach Smith. It could have pointed to the two previous allegations of domestic violence made against him in the past and focused on the absence of any charges. Meyer even could have leaned on his decades-old relationship with Smith or his loyalty to mentor Earle Bruce as a justification to try to fight to keep him on staff.

Meyer didn't do any of that on Monday, firing the last member left from his original coaching staff with the Buckeyes abruptly and less than two weeks before the start of training camp. Really, there wasn't another option if the program Meyer has built into one of the few true powerhouses in the country was going to keep standing and continue to keep the solid foundation provided by discipline from top to bottom.

Above all else, protecting Ohio State had to be the priority for any decision, and Meyer made the correct one.

Saint Louis (Mo.) Trinity Catholic wide receiver Marcus Washington was in Columbus the weekend of June 22 on his Ohio State official visit. The visit went very well, but he later said he had decided to postpone announcing his decision which he had planned to do on his birthday, Aug. 7. However, on July 16 Washington announced via Twitter that his announcement is back on for Aug. 7 "I just decided I want to get it out of the way," Washington told Bucknuts on Wednesday afternoon. "Then I can concentrate on the (football) season. I'll announce Aug. 7 on Twitter.' Washington has at least 39 scholarship offers including Ohio State, Alabama, Missouri, Florida State, Georgia, Oklahoma, Texas, Penn State, USC, Oregon and Iowa State. In mid-May he came out with a Top 6 of Ohio State, Missouri, Florida State, Clemson, Georgia and Texas.

However, his list has actually been trimmed further.

"Really, it's between two, Missouri and Ohio State," Washington said.

Washington said he remains in contact with both schools.

"I talk to coach (Urban) Meyer, coach (Zach) Smith, coach (Keenan) Bailey, coach (Tony) Alford, and coach (Brian) Hartline some too," Washington said. "We're in contact every day. And I talk to Missouri too."

When Austin (Texas) Lake Travis 5-star wide receiver Garrett Wilson announced his commitment to Ohio State he said he would not be the last Texas star to be a part of Urban Meyer's 2019 class. And since then he has been working on a number of other stars from Texas to join him in Columbus.

One of those that Wilson hopes to eventually see in Columbus with him is Austin (Texas) Bowie wide receiver Elijah Higgins who was on an official visit to Ohio State this past weekend. Higgins had a fantastic time.

"It was great," Higgins began. "I got to spend a lot of quality time with the coaches. I really enjoyed it. I went up with my dad, mom and my sister and brother. I had been to Ohio State before, but they wanted to see it. They all enjoyed it too. My mom and dad loved it."

Higgins is being recruited by both Ryan Day and Zach Smith.

"I have a really good relationship with both," HIggins said. "Really, both of them are recruiting me equally. I was impressed honestly with the camaraderie of everyone - how the coaches open all the doors to the families. On Sunday afternoon we went to coach (Urban) Meyer's house and he opened up the pool. I thought that was cool. It was a blast."

As posted on Tuesday morning on Bucknuts, the gathering at Meyer's house included animals from the Columbus Zoo.

Higgins made an unofficial visit to Ohio State in late April, spending the weekend in Columbus before returning this past weekend.

"This was my first official visit and it might be my last," Higgins said. "I want to decide sometime before the (football) season for sure - Sept. 1 at the latest. Then if I were to pick someplace else I would take an official visit there."

So who is the competition for the Buckeyes?

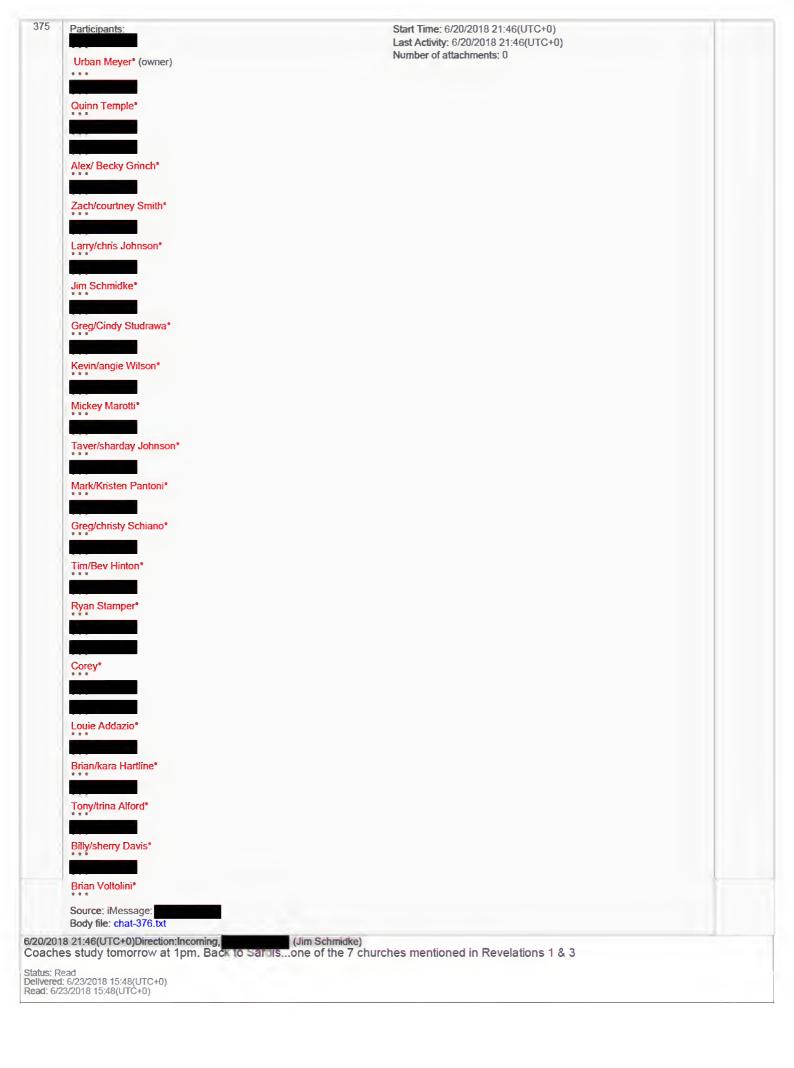

"Florida, Stanford, I'm talking to Auburn, Texas, Ole Miss as well," Higgins said. "I'm going to sit down with my dad and talk. The Ohio State official visit helped a lot. I already knew what they had to offer from the unofficial visit. But they moved up a lot with my family."

Higgins was born in Tampa, Fla., but he lived in Ohio for three years starting at age 2. His younger brother was born in Columbus.

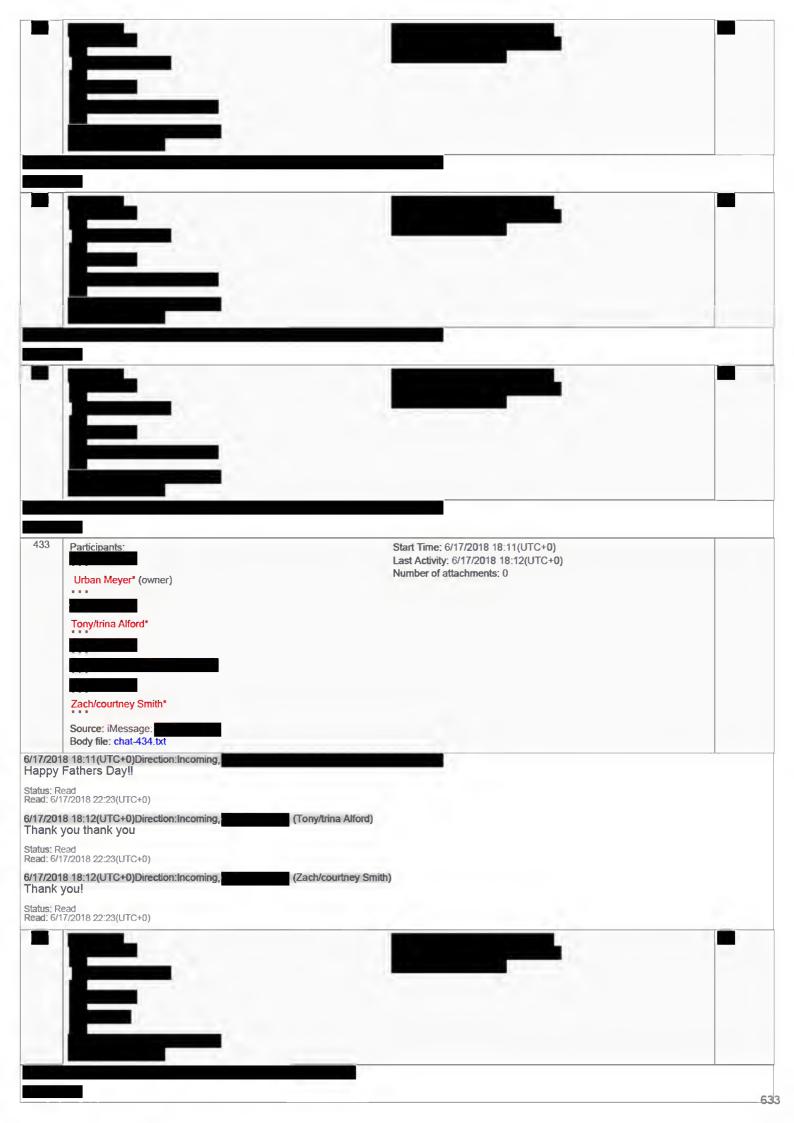

Higgins made an unofficial with the Florida Gators June 12-13.

Higgins is a 4-star prospect in the 247Sports Composite. He is the country's No. 103 overall prospect, the No. 17 wide receiver and the No. 13 prospect in Texas.

We have 517 Pre-Registered for Friday's camp. Normally, we have about 200 Walk-ups per camp or more. This will be a large camp Tomorrow, Brendan will give each position coach a practice schedule and a copy of last year's practice schedule that I will need back by Thursday at noon. With those large numbers, please prepare drills and organize your staff accordingly. Position coaches, make sure your interns and GAs are well versed in the field organization that you want cause you'll be with your top guys and not the main camp

Outstanding job with your efforts at camp. Ended with 888 campers today. If you have a chance to have some constructive thoughts on how to better organize 1-day and satellite camps for 2019, please share them with me.

Out of 2200 campers in our combined 1-day camps, I literally had hundreds of compliments about our staff's effort and organization. It wasn't till the end of this camp today, that we got our first complaint and it was very minor lol

Zion Puckett is having some deep talks with those close to him. The four-star athlete out of Griffin (Ga.) Spalding has had recent discussions with his family, his coaches and his counselor at school as he works towards cutting down his list of schools in the near future "I am working right now to figure out who will make my list, but I know three schools that will definitely make it," said Puckett. "I know Ohio State, Georgia and Stanford will make it. I have an idea about another school or two, but I am not ready yet. I am still working on it.' One of the schools he has visited this year is Ohio State. He was in Columbus for the spring game and he has family right around the corner from the office of Urban Meyer.

"I loved every part of my visit to Ohio State. It was my first time there and it was great. My mom's side of the family lives about 10 minutes from the campus, so I got to see them too, so it would be cool to go there knowing I have family close.

"When I was up there, I got the tour Friday, then saw the spring game Saturday. I learned a lot about the alumni, how they give back and how so many are still involved there.

"I also spent a lot of time with the coaches and the best part of the visit was seeing how they take care of the players. Coach Meyer was great too. He was complimenting my mom on how she raised me and it was great. I have been talking to coach Meyer, coach Grinch and coach Smith almost every day now. Coach Meyer is really recruiting me, so that stands out too."

A trip out west is in the works right now. Puckett is working to schedule a visit to Stanford in June.

"I do not have a date yet, but I am planning to visit Stanford next month," said Puckett. "I love the balance of academics and athletics at Stanford and their degree would be great.

"They prepare their players for like. They are very detailed and I have been learning more and more about the program from the coaches. The main coach I talk to is coach Kennedy and he is always talking about what Stanford can do for me during and after football. I can't wait to get out there."

Georgia is a school much closer to home than Stanford or Ohio State, but Puckett has not visited Athens since he was in ninth grade. That is likely to change in the near future though.

"I am talking to coach Scott, my recruiting coach each week and he keeps on asking me when am I going to visit. I am going to get over there soon. I want to spend some time with the coaches and just check everything out.

"Georgia being the home-state school really makes them stand out to me. They have a lot of good people at Georgia and they could help me be successful after football being the home-state school. I know I like them, so I just need to get back over there.

The majority of the schools are recruiting Puckett as an athlete. Some schools have talked about him playing both sides of the ball in college, but despite making a lot of top plays at wide receiver in high school, he is leaning towards the other side of the ball if he has to choose a position.

"I think my best position could be cornerback," said Puckett. "A lot of coaches are telling me to go play and let it play out. I just think I might be best on defense, but we will see."

With spring practice starting next week, Puckett will concentrate on that, then get back to work on cutting his list down. He thinks that will come within the next month or so.

"It should happen towards the end of school. I am working on it. It will happen pretty soon and then I will be able to focus on a smaller amount of schools.'

Puckett plans to take all five official visits before making his decision. He does not plan to commit until after his senior season.

Just left his school. Relationship with Coach Meyer is setting us apart. His HC doesnt see Stanford being the place in the end, but family was flattered that they offered.

We r the premier program in the country when it comes to the complete development of the student athlete... every aspect of the student athlete (mental, physical, emotional, and spiritual) is enhanced and developed through this program. This is just one of the many ways we take care of our players outside of the game of football.

(Mark/Kristen Pantoni) Austin (TX) Bowle four-star wide receiver Elijah Higgins spent the last two days on campus at the University of Florida for an unofficial visit. Though he lives in Texas now, Higgins is a Florida native, and was excited to make a return trip back to the Sunshine State to see his childhood favorite team, the Florida Gators.

"I really didn't have any expectations coming into the visit, but it was more a homecoming than anything," Higgins said. "I was blown away though. The coaching staff is incredible and it felt like home for me.'

"The Academic Center was second to none," Higgins said of visit highlights. "The facilities they have planned for the future are ridiculous and the programs they have around the school are just incredible. The coaches there are all really great people. They were amazing and I really enjoyed my time there."

While in The Swamp, Higgins met with multiple members of the coaching staff, but admitted the majority of his time was spent with wide receiver's coach Billy Gonzales and head coach Dan Mullen.

"I hung around those two coaches the most out of anyone," Higgins said of the pair of UF coaches. "They just were saying how they are trying to rebuild UF and get the maximum potential out of all their players. They are the same staff that won the Natty in '06 and '08 minus Urban Meyer so they've got it figured out just have to bring it back to The Swamp.'

This visit to Gainesville was the 6-foot-3, 215-pounders first time speaking with Coach Mullen face-to-face and he enjoyed their talks.

"He was just a genuine guy and wasn't trying to sell anything and you can tell nothing about him is forced. He is just a great dude."

Another highlight of his time was spent hearing the plan for Higgins in the Gators offense and the role he would fit.

"We sat back and watched some film on Tuesday and they showed me where I could fit into their offense. They think really highly of my ability to bring one-on-one mismatches to my side of the field. I was glued to Coach Gonzales hip watching him during the camp on Thursday."

Higgins says a decision will likely come before the start of his senior season, and the only visit on the docket for the rest of this month will be an official visit to Ohio State on June 22. He claims no leaders at this time, but has taken visits in the last few months to Texas A&M, USC, UCLA, Ohio State, Florida, and Stanford.

The current market and aggressiveness of the business has never been like this. I have always tried to manage the staff and never be "over the top" with our salary structure. In the last 3 weeks: Schiano was offered jobs at Ala, Tex am, FSu and three jobs in NFL. Zach Smith was offered job at Alabama. Ryan Day was offered jobs at UCLA, Head coach at Miss St, and recently the NFL. Coombs was offered job at Ala and recently the nfl. Ryan Stamper offered job at Fla. Alex Grinch offered job at Ala, UCLA, Miss St. All were jobs that would Pay significantly more than they make here. Other than Kerry Coombs All are staying at this point. Because they luv Ohio state. Thx for ur support. Can't do this with u. THE LATEST: Ohio State had Jashawn Snelfield in Columbus for the Nebraska game in 2016 and the visit could not have gone any better. The four-star athlete out of Saint Simons Island (Ga.) Frederica Academy loved the atmosphere, game-day was what he expected it to be and since then, the Buckeyes have been at least one of his top three schools.

The biggest concern, possibly the only concern Sheffield has with Ohio State is the distance from his home in Saint Simons

IN HIS OWN WORDS: "I really do love Ohio State," said Sheffield. "I love everything about Ohio State. I love the school, I love the atmosphere, I love the coaches and I have loved that school from the beginning."

MEYER'S TIME MEANS A LOT: "I have talked to Urban Meyer on the phone, we have face-timed and him showing me interest means a lot to me. He is a head coach of a top program, but he still has time for me. I like him as a coach, he is a great recruiter and he has tried to get to know me."

DISTANCE IS A FACTOR: "If they were closer to home, the race would be even tighter. Florida State is just closer to home. I feel about Ohio State about the same way I feel about Florida State, but the distance gives the edge to Florida state right now."

BUCKEYES STILL IN THIS: "Florida State is No. 1, but Ohio State is right there. If they were closer, it would probably be tied at the top for me. That is how close it is."

RIVALS REACTION: A decision could come during Sheffield's junior year. Ohio State has had his attention from the beginning. The Buckeyes have done everything right, they just need to convince him that distance is not that big of a deal. That is what gives Florida State the edge right now according to Sheffield. Other schools like Clemson, Georgia and Miami are involved, but the Seminoles and Buckeyes appear to be clearly the two schools at the top.

One thought-while Andy has been great working with us in Zach— maybe we make it more institutionally formal- require him to go to "Employee Assistance Program" (EAP)... that is monitored by Human Resources... to get help with a management plan regarding his divorce and children...

7/24/2018 17:30(UTC+0)Direction:Incoming, (Tim/brenda Kight) Consider this message: "Zach and Courtney had a very difficult relationship. Obviously ended in divorce, and with shared custody of kids. That's really tough. Maybe some of you are in similar situation. If so, you know how hard it is. It appears both of them contributed to the problems in their relationship, and the incident that just occurred with Zach ... well, he stepped over the line. Violated a restraining order. That is bad judgment, and it's unacceptable. So we made the decision to release him. I want to reiterate that this is a deeply personal matter between Zach and Courtney. Like any domestic dispute, there is an element of 'he said/she said,' and I am definitely not qualified to be the judge in that dispute. Neither are you. Zach violated a court order and we released him. He and Courtney still need to find a way to co-parent their kids. I hope and pray they figure it out.
